

Vision for Humanity

I=ER

Version: To empower another

You have the power to purposefully create a sensational life for yourself physically, mentally, emotionally and spiritually resulting in Genuine Personal Increase.

You have discovered your infinite potential, and have become fully aware, joyfully awake and empowered to create the life for yourself that you truly want. A life that is genuinely returning to you the things that matter most; an abundance of accumulating love, wealth, health and happiness.

Instead of reacting to your world you truly are a creator of it. You are completely conscious of your own consciousness. Through greater awareness, and choosing to use your higher level (and transformative) tools of your human spirit, you have found your true north and are creating for yourself:

a mind that truly supports you a source of emotional & spiritual well-being a deep sense of happiness and satisfaction through really enjoyable everyday interactions truly meaningful interdependent personal relationships greater personal accomplishment & financial reward

physical health & vitality

a depth of self worth

You love your life!

You are solidly connected to your personal power. You experience and navigate with confidence every situation with certainty and belief in yourself. You completely accept and respect yourself for who you are, and who you are becoming. You eat the healthiest food, cherish regular exercise, seek greater Knowledge and have become positively curious and open to knowing what makes you who you are – all of which gathers more and more ‘wealth’ for yourself.

You are a beautiful person who values others in your life; you understand the power your words and actions have on people. You establish quality friendships, invest in your community and are interested in our incredible planet. You are a Visionaire. I respect you. You understand how important your interactions are in the world – how powerful you truly are.

You understand that you are in an incremental process of conscious transformation, an unfolding miracle revealing the true you, shifting from unconscious mis-creation to conscious and constructive creation – what a sensational way of constructing your personal world!

Now you live in the moment of creation understanding that you can use your creative power every moment of the day. With this abundance you give yourself all that you need to create a solid base of fulfilment, which in turn provides for others. You understand that to give is to create goodness in your life. You constantly give to yourself and others a smile, good food, words of love, forgiveness and encouraging thoughts. You seek knowledge on the subjects of which you need to learn and grow, so as to eventually help and share.

This miracle of you is simply a shift in consciousness; a way of living, being the greatest gift you can give yourself and the greatest gift that you can give the world.

Your path represents outcomes of genuinely increasing personal value, incrementally adding over time to your physical, mental, emotional and spiritual well-being.

And what an incredible world you delight in when encountering other individuals also choosing to create in this authentic way.

Individuals that perhaps you have helped awaken to their true selves.

It started with you(co-create: let us know what a Vision for Self would mean to you)
